"Justin worked under the direction of several licensed architects, including myself. He demonstrated himself to be creative with an excellent graphic capability. Justin works well with team members, and has also worked with clients. One project of particular note was the Underground Tree House, a competition for the Dallas Arboretum. Justin was a lead designer, and also undertook responsibility for having the project constructed. It was one of just a few designs selected for exhibit at the arboretum and would not have happened without his energy and enthusiasm."

"Justin was a great addition to the Recreation Studio when he joined F&S Partners in 2005. As a Principal of the firm, I quickly grew to appreciate his innovative thinking, graphic skills and creativity. He was a great team player as well as a leader. An example of his leadership was his efforts in F&S' winning entry for the Ultimate Tree House at the Dallas Arboretum. Justin led not only the design but also the detailing of the Tree House which was constructed under budget. It was a pleasure working with Justin and I highly recommend him to anyone who is seeking a creative individual."

"Justin and I studied together in the College of Architecture at Texas Tech. His creative graphic abilities made him stand out amongst his peers at school and are similarly setting him apart in the profession as well. I enjoyed working with Justin as he always brought a multitude of fresh ideas to the table and was able to rally a team together towards a discrete concept. I wholeheartedly recommend Justin, as he would be valuable asset to any professional office."

"Justin is a creative maelstrom; new and great ideas are constantly popping out of his head. Justin attacks new challenges with eagerness and is usually able to come up with a unique and effective solution to problems he is tasked with solving. He also pursues new skills and knowledge relevant to his work on a ongoing basis."
