Born in Porto, Portugal, Its always been about moving forward to me, leaving the small city, travelling, learning, creating. It all started quite young really, believing that life is where dreams come true.

So, I recently graduated in advertising, and I was driven by passion to enter the Ad world. I learnt to think different, and they told us we can do anything if we put our minds to it. So, I started looking for a job, a new place to learn, because a mind is a terrible thing to waste right? and with the power of dreams you can go anywhere.

Impossible

is nothing they told me, so I started to send my work, and it keeps going and going and going but “we’re not hiring” they answered. Well, have it your way, I’m not quitting. Just Keep walking they said, you’re good, you’ll find your job, they said.

So I started to think of a better way to reach my target, its all part of the journey, and I’m loving it! Of course, I got used to the sleepless nights, the endless brainstorm and the hard clients, but in the end its worth it!

A month in Venice, a year in Birmingham and three in Barcelona taught me be to be all I can be, get out there, work hard, do more; my skills are no good if I cant reach out and touch someone.

So here I am, 21 years later trying to reach someone, trying harder, taking the leap, moving forward and letting passion drive me and with the power of my own dreams I’ll keep walking, I’ll keep going. I’ll be all I can be, and I will make my dreams come true.
