Cross modalities

List what feels digital:

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

1.) List a pleasing computational or digital experience you’ve had:

List what feels analog/physical:

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

______________________

2.) Pick something from the physical column. How might you render that digital experience using this technique or material? Sketch while you think:

[Blank space for sketching]