INPUTS

Sit outside and turn what you see into numbers

1.) List what is happening (what is REALLY* happening?):

2.) Quantify it

*ignore anything that is loud/competing for your attention, like advertising or your phone

3.) What patterns are interesting to you?

OUTPUTS

Turn those numbers back into experience again!

Use your quantified experiences to make new work by mapping them to new actions. Example: number of buses seem = number of leg kicks in a new dance routine. And a twirl for every blue car spied.

4.) Remapping!
